Strikers Ordered To Work

Telegrams Sent
By President
To Officials
UMW Of America

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19—(AP)—President Roosevelt, as commander-in-chief of the armed forces, today directed all striking anthracite coal miners to go back at once.

He said that if they failed to comply with his directive in 48 hours, the government would take the necessary steps to protect the security of the nation against a strike which comes at a time of a shortage of fuel in war time.

Some 5,000 striking miners returned to their jobs in Pennsylvania's anthracite field today in the largest back-to-work movement since the wildcat walkout began three weeks ago.

(However, about 12,350 insurgents still remained idle.)

The chief executive issued his order in telegrams to officials of the United Mine Workers of America, national and local.

The parent body has emphasized the strike is unauthorized. The telegram said:

"On Friday, January 15, 1943, the National War Labor Board issued a directive order calling upon all miners on strike in the anthracite coal field to return to work immediately. I have been informed that several thousand miners refused to obey the order of the War Labor Board and are still out on strike.

"In the interest of the war effort, all directive orders of the National War Labor Board must be complied with by all employers and all employees.

"Therefore, as commander-in-chief of the armed forces, I direct all miners in the anthracite coal fields who are now out on strike to return at once to their job of producing vitally needed coal for their country. If this order is not complied with in forty-eight hours, your government will take the necessary steps to protect the security of the nation against a strike which is doing serious injury to the war effort."

(The President used the armed forces in two previous cases of labor defiance and the military showing in both cases had the effect of ending the strikes without violence. The first was in the North American aviation case in California early in 1941. Last year the military was assigned to the General Cable company strike.)

Capt. Douglas McCabe, who with Mrs. Douglas reside in the Ruby Lea apartments, Sedalia, has been promoted to Commanding Officer of the 405th Hq. and A. B. Squadron at the Sedalia Army Air Base.

Capt. McCabe received his commission in 1931 in the Cavalry Reserve. In 1938 he was promoted to Captain. He was called to active duty in 1942 while engaged in production management work in Chicago. His assignment took him to Lowry Field, Denver. Later he served as assistant adjutant at Westover Field, Mass. Next he went to the 50th Wing at Camp Williams, Wis., as utilities officer. He came to the Sedalia Air Base in September. From assistant Post Engineer he became the Base S-2 officer and was serving in that capacity when named commanding officer of the 405th.

State Budget May Balance, Junge Says

Bill Proposed
For Bigger
Pension Payments

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 19.—(P)—The house passed its first bills of the session today—eight of 13 temporary appropriation acts—after hearing Appropriations Chairman C. P. Junge's prediction of a "balanced budget if we can hold the present level."

The Benton county Republican referred to temporary financing measures totaling about $17,000,000 which, if quadrupled for the biennium, would come well within the estimated $68,000,000 anticipated general fund revenue—what with a $6,000,000 surplus from 1941-42.

Legislators, apprehensive over Gov. Forrest C. Donnell's record-breaking tentative budget proposals for 1943-44, applauded Junge's "we'll stay within our revenue and we won't raise taxes" yesterday as he offered the last two six-months measures, for the National Guard and the Council of Defense.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 19.—(P)—Bigger old age pension payments and more liberal requirements were proposed in the house today by Rep. H. T. Limerick, Jr., (D) Boone county.

Limerick introduced a bill to set a $20-a-month minimum for persons which now average less than that. He would raise the maximum payment to $40 per person or $60 for married couples. The present Missouri law sets no minimum. It prescribes maximums of $30 a month for single persons and $45 per couple.

Another bill by Limerick would provide that no applicant be denied a pension because relatives

Three Runs By Fire Engines

The fire companies made three runs this morning, two when sparks from flues burning out threatened roofs and the third when a sprinkler system in a wholesale house tripped, sending a direct alarm to fire headquarters. There was no damage.

The first call was at the residence of Ernest Patterson, 107 South Quincy avenue, at 7:06 o'clock, where a flue was burning out.

At 7:28 o'clock the direct alarm sounded when the sprinkler system at the McMullin and Whitaker Distributing company, 301 East Main street, was set off in some manner. There was no fire.

The companies were called to 908 West Third street, at 9:48 o'clock by Mrs. Mae Moser to check a burning flue.

Landlords Registered

More Than 4000
In Pettis And
Johnson Counties

Samuel P. Harlan, attorney-examiner in charge of the Sedalia Office of Rental Control, which comprises Johnson and Pettis counties, states that more than 4,000 landlords have registered their properties as provided by the Rental Regulation Act. January 15th was the last day provided for under the Act for the registration of housing, hotel and rooming house accommodations for properties rented or offered for rent on or before the 15th of January.

Mr. Harlan states that many persons who forgot, neglected or were out of town or out of the county on the dates set up for registration, are now registering.

It is pointed out that those who are required to register but who for some reason or another did not register between December 15, 1942, and January 15, 1943, are not relieved from registering, but are required to do so.

Some Oversights
In most cases it is found that failure to register was merely an oversight or misunderstanding about the dates. However, it has come to the attention of the Rental Control office that there are certain persons who still seem to take the view that registration is purely an optional matter.

On the other hand, some few instances have come to the attention of the office.

Armed Forces Need More Blood Donors

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(P)—Chairman Norman H. Davis of the American Red Cross announced today that the army and navy have requested procurement of 4,000,000 pints of blood during 1943—more than three times the amount obtained from volunteer donors last year.

The surgeons general of the army and navy, Major General James C. Magee and Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, said in a letter that blood plasma was saving the lives of fighting men who otherwise would have died.

Plan To Block 48 Hour Week Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(P)—Senate leaders indicated today that immediate consideration of a 48-hour standard work week would be blocked when Senator Reed (R-Kas), author of the proposal, attempts to call it up within the next two weeks.

Reed told reporters before he left for a fortnight of fuel hearings in the midwest that he would seek consideration of the bill on the senate floor when he returns. For that reason, he said, he had asked that it "lie on the table," thus keeping it out of the education and labor committee, which he called "the graveyard of such bills."

Britain Can Look Forward Confidently

View 1942
Successes With Satisfaction

LONDON, Jan. 19.—(P)—Clement R. Attlee, deputy prime minister, told the opening session of Parliament today that Great Britain could "look forward to 1943 with justifiable confidence," and that the successes scored by the allied nations last year were to be viewed with "sober satisfaction."

In a brief statement on the war situation pending an anticipated complete review by Prime Minister Churchill within the next few days, Attlee lauded the "wonderful achievements" of the Russian army and said "It looks as if none of the great force (before Stalingrad) will escape from the trap."

Describing the allied objective in North Africa as total destruction of enemy forces, he told Commons that bad weather in Tunisia had restricted movement of motorized forces and had "seriously affected the provision of airfields."

"We have every confidence in General Eisenhower and General Anderson and the men of the allied forces," he said.

Do Not See Alike
Referring to reports of differences between the British and Americans over the political line-up in North Africa, Attlee declared it was only natural that French affairs should not appear in the same light to the two allied nations, but added that "such variations of outlook . . . ought not to be exaggerated."

"Everyone there is co-operating," he asserted. "French civil (Please turn to page 4 column 3)

Will Be Strict On Gas Books

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 19.—(P)—Stricter enforcement of the gasoline rationing program can be expected by motorists after March 1, the beginning of the second three-month period.

William H. Bryan, state rationing officer, for the OPA, said today his organization probably would make some upward corrections or allotments but "the greater number will be downward."

"We face some high hurdles in the rubber situation during the next few months," he said. "We'll have to meet these hurdles by being strict."

Applications for the second period for "B" and "C" supplementary allotments probably will be taken by mail starting February 1, Bryan said. During the following month his office will study motorists' individual needs.

Bus And Car Collision Due To Cold Weather

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 19.—(P)—Two buses and a street car jammed with more than 100 passengers, collided today injuring 20 persons, two severely.

Police said a street car struck a trolley bus, forcing it into a Missouri Pacific bus. The two buses were crossing the intersection at 15th and Brooklyn at the time.

The crash was blamed on equipment made faulty by frigid weather.

No Intoxicated Passengers

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 19.—(P)—Springfield taxicabs may not carry intoxicated passengers under a revised ordinance approved by the city council today.

Junior Chamber of Commerce Pays Off

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Jan. 19.—(P)—Two years ago the junior chamber of commerce sponsored a Christmas home lighting program but the treasury just wouldn't stand the strain of prize money.

Mercury Drops To 16 Below

Sedaliens Awaken
To Find Winter
Has Moved In
During The Night

Winter swooped down on Sedalia Monday night and those who thought they were cold were still colder when they looked at the thermometer. Up and down the street there were various reports of how the thermometers read, all the way from 13 to 21 degrees below zero. The official temperature however was 16 below at 7 a. m.

Business was good with the taxi companies, the plumbers and the coal men, but otherwise things were dull. Few ventured out unless it was absolutely necessary. Store rooms were difficult to heat properly and young women clerks must have felt that woman's intuition very strongly, because they came prepared. Nearly all had jackets or coats on and some displayed three and four sweaters. There were several thicknesses of the unmentionables, too.

Heavy Hose Arrives

In one store a shipment of heavy hose had just arrived and were almost all sold to their own employees. They came in bright blue, red and tan but the vivid colors were the favorites, perhaps because they looked warmer. One girl wearing woolen slacks pulled them up a bit to show her new red hose and then laughing pulled them a bit higher to prove that she had also worn her blue knitted sleeping pajamas to keep warm.

In one office a young woman was having difficulty in mimeographing. Because of the cold the ink was so thick she could hardly use it and she was about worn out trying to print a few copies, most of which came out blurred.

Three hundred and forty students of the high school failed to get to school this morning. Trains were behind schedule but buses seemed to be getting places on time. Many cars could not be started. Walking was good but cold.

It was a cold day for Missouri all right, but the grumbling was all good natured and the sun beaming brightly from early morning sent the temperature gradually upward until at 2 o'clock this afternoon it had reached two degrees above zero.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 19.—(P)—Missouri's severe cold wave intensified today with temperatures dropping far below zero in the most extreme weather of the season.

A continuation of the bitter cold was forecast with the south and east-central sections receiving the full force of the polar blasts tonight. A low of 10 degrees below zero was predicted for St. Louis.

Allies Strike Blows At Axis On Three Fronts, Within 40 Miles Of Tripoli Enemy Base

World War News Briefs As Told By Associated Press

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Jan. 18.—(Delayed)—(P)—Lieut. Henry Chovanec, a lanky Texan from Fayetteville, figures his Liberator bomber crew is doing its share to defeat the axis. Pilot Chovanec and his men sank a large Japanese merchant vessel at noon today—the second Jap ship they have finished off within two weeks. They have accounted also for possibly three enemy planes in that period.

Others in the plane included: Robert Ratliff of Kansas City and Shelby, Mo., a gunner.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—(P)—Light British patrol bombers hit three enemy supply ships last night in an attack on a convoy off the Dutch coast, the air ministry announced today.

The RAF bomber command did not raid Europe in force last night but did lay mines in enemy waters while aircraft of the fighter command on offensive patrols attacked freight trains and locomotives in northern France.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(P)—The navy announced today that American submarines had sunk an enemy destroyer and four other ships—two cargo, one transport, one patrol vessel—in the Pacific.

May Permit Buses On Ohio Avenue

An ordinance, read for the first time at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night, is indicative that an agreement has been reached between the city council members and the bus company management whereby the buses will be permitted to operate on Ohio avenue, provided the company sells fourteen tokens for one dollar.

The ordinance will be up for passage or rejection at a later meeting.

Another ordinance, read for the first time also, provides that traffic lights at Second street and Lamine avenue, Second street and Osage avenue, and Broadway and Grand be removed.

Rose Smith, 423 South Engineer avenue, was granted a renewal license to sell liquor by the drink.

Hold Youths For Fatal Shooting

STEELE, Mo., Jan. 19.—(P)—Ernest Mills and Robert Qoverfield, both 18-year-old farm boys, were ordered held, Mills without bond, at conclusion of a preliminary hearing late Monday in connection with the fatal shooting of Helen Frances Wright, 15, at her home near here the night of January 2. The state dismissed charges against Odell Armstrong, who also had been arrested, and Mills' bond was fixed at $500. The Wright girl was fatally wounded when she was hit by a bullet from a small calibre rifle while standing in the doorway of the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary Wright.

Testimony revealed the boys had been guests at the Wright home but had been asked by Mrs. Wright to leave when she said she believed they had been drinking. After leaving the boys went after a rifle and standing some distance away fired into the Wright home.

Mrs. Linden Lee Jones, 1901 South Osage avenue, has received word that her brother, Lieut.-Col. W. S. Triplett has been promoted to the rank of Colonel. He is with the Armored Forces, stationed at Camp Beale, Calif.

Colonel Triplett, a graduate of the Sedalia high school, graduated from West Point in 1924 and has been in active army service since.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(P)—A medium-sized British merchant vessel was torpedoed, shelled and sunk by an enemy submarine in the Atlantic off the northern coast of South America in mid-December, the navy reported today. Thirty-one survivors have landed at Miami, Fla. One lifeboat with 20 other men aboard has not been reported but it is believed the crewmen may have been rescued.

The loss raised to 594 the Associated Press count of announced allied and neutral merchantmen sinkings in the western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Jan. 19.—(P)—Allied ground forces captured Sanananda point and Sanananda village yesterday, according to Associated Press reports from the advanced operational base in New Guinea.

The allied occupation of the coastal end of the Japanese-held Papuan corridor left the remnants of Lieut. Gen. Tomitoro Hori's northeastern New Guinea army enveloped by Australian and American infantrymen in three restricted pockets lying from a half to two miles inland from the coast. All three are located along the main trail.

Preparing For Invasion Of Europe

Tide Of Allies
Success
Swells Daily

BY GLENN BABB

The tide of allied success in Russia and Africa continues in full flood. Each day's dispatches seem to swell, at an accelerating pace, the tale of disaster for Hitler on the two active fronts where his major fortunes are at stake. The temptation to over optimism is strong; hence it is well to recall that in both these campaigns the victories now being won are only preparatory.

In Africa the allies are merely getting ahead with the job of clearing the springboard for the invasion of southern Europe. In Russia the enemy still is hundreds of miles deep in Soviet soil.

Rommel's flight and Montgomery's pursuit continue at almost headlong pace. Another day's advance at the rate of the last two or three will bring the victorious Eighth Army to the gates of Tripoli itself. Even tomorrow we may have the answer to the question whether Rommel intends to fight for Mussolini's last colonial capital. This is the same Rommel who only a few months ago seemed to have it within his power to drive the British from Egypt and shatter the whole allied position in the middle east.

Inspiring News

Still more inspiring is the news from the Russian front. Moscow announces that the 17-months blockade of Leningrad has been broken by the storming of Shliusselburg (literally, the key city) and the junction of the armies of Leningrad and the Volkhov. Leningrad and Stalingrad, the cities which bear the names of the two men who created modern Russia. Doubtless the sentimental values which attach to the mere

Rommel In Headlong Retreat, Montgomery's Army In Hot Pursuit

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Allied sledge hammer blows shook the axis on three fronts in World War II today.

1. In Libya, the British Eighth Army was reported "in contact" with Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's battered Africa corps near Tarhuna, only 40 miles from the big axis base at Tripoli, after a lightning advance inland across the desert.

Once again, it appeared, Rommel was in headlong retreat with Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's army in hot pursuit.

2. In Russia, the Red armies of the north lifted the epic 17-months-old siege of Leningrad, former Czarist capital, after recapturing the ancient Nazi-held fortress of Shliusselburg, killing 13,000 Germans, routing four divisions and demolishing 470 enemy strongpoints.

Shliusselburg lies 22 miles east of Leningrad on the south shore of Lake Ladoga.

Russians Surge Forward

At the same time, Russia's southern armies surged forward within 108 miles of Kharkov, the "Ukraine Pittsburgh," killed 2,600 more Germans in 24 hours in the battle to annihilate 50,000 survivors of the Nazi siege armies before Stalingrad, and sharply increased the threat to the great German base at Rostov.

3. In New Guinea, allied field headquarters announced that American and Australian troops had captured two vital Japanese strongholds—Sanananda Point and Sanananda village—in the closing phases of a drive to exterminate the remnants of a 15,000-man Japanese army.

Allied seizure of the coastal end of the enemy-held Papuan corridor left the remaining enemy forces in three tightly-enveloped pockets half a mile to two miles inland.

On the Libyan front, British headquarters announced that Gen. Montgomery's forces were now attacking the axis "toward Tarhuna," 40 miles from Tripoli, after routing the enemy from Beni Ulid and inflicting losses in a tank battle.

Beni Ulid lies 100 miles south-east of Tripoli.

50 Miles From Tripoli

Dispatches from Cairo said British vanguards were now within 50 miles of Tripoli, or closer than Rommel came to success in his threatening drive toward Alexandria and the Suez Canal last summer.

Italian headquarters said Tripoli itself was under violent allied aerial assault, with repeated raids inflicting great property damage and killing numerous civilians.

The Fascist communique said Italian and German troops "offered fierce resistance to persistent enemy pressure" and caused serious losses to the British.

Even before news of this spectacular British advance became known, dispatches from allied headquarters in North Africa suggested that Rommel with an army of possibly 110,000 men, might abandon Tripoli and fall back to fortified positions in Tunisia.

Rommel's best bet, military analysts said, would be to establish the strongest possible bridgehead in Tunisia to exert some measure of control over the Sicilian channel bottleneck in the Mediterranean, and thus hamper any allied attack against the "under side" of

The Daily
Washington
Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON
(Major Robert S. Allen on active duty)

WASHINGTON — Among the president's close inner circle no one has talked with him about a fourth term, with the possible exception of Harry Hopkins, and Harry these days moves in such rarefied atmosphere that not even other White House intimates know exactly what he thinks or talks about to the president.

However, you can't get away from the fact that some of the president's friends already are discussing a fourth term. They are doing it with various degrees of reaction, however. Some mention it reluctantly, as if they didn't want it, but think it necessary because there is no one else on the Democratic horizon.

Some few definitely believe the president should run, hope he will run, and think he will be elected. They, however, are in a minority.

From one man, not as close as Hopkins but who sees the president frequently, comes this diagnosis:

"It will take wild horses to drag the Boss into running for a fourth term. But he isn't going to say so. There is nothing he loves more than to keep people guessing. He is going to do just what he did last time—say nothing until the last minute.

"However, the picture is different from that in 1940. Then, we approached certain war, with only one man who could lead and unify the country in preparation for that war. The nation was torn between isolationists and interventionists. We could have been disastrously split, the way the Nazis planned. Only now do we realize how dangerously we were open to attack.

"That was the primary reason Roosevelt stayed on, to bridge up over the war gap. But now that we are in the war, and on the road to victory, he doesn't feel the same way. The issue is not so urgent, and he will not run in 1944."

NOTE: This friend omitted one factor from his diagnosis, FDR also wants to win the peace after the war. To this end, some friends think he should make a deal with Willkie or Henry Wallace to let him handle the peace after 1944 while they handle the White House.

Capitol Chaff

The army has found a new type of work for defeated congressmen—semi-diplomatic jobs in North Africa... Ex-Congressman Wilburn Cartwright, Democrat of Oklahoma, has just been commissioned a major, and is taking a course in military government at Charlottesville, Va., to become a military governor in North Africa... Likewise ex-Congressman Charles Faddis, Democrat of Pennsylvania, a reserve officer, is on the staff of Gen. Eisenhower. He is handling liaison work among the Arabs and the French... The army finds that men with congressional experience have a knack for getting along with people and do well in these jobs... When Leon Henderson leaves his job as price czar, he will take a rest trip to Latin America. "How far I go will depend on how much it costs," he says. "I'll be a private citizen with no income, and airplane travel costs money"... Henderson, who had nothing but his government salary could make a small fortune at lobbying or lecturing, but won't... Manpower Boss McNutt is greasing the skids for another military man, Brig. Gen. William Rose, in charge of the manning tables of the Labor Utilization Bureau. This is an important job—rating workers and jobs on their value to the war. Rose will be replaced by a civilian. Gen. McSherry has already exited and

Knudsen's Sign Language
Big Bill Knudsen did something the other day which amazed even his friends. They had not suspected that he would talk in deaf-mute language.

Lieut. Gen. Knudsen was inspecting war plants, accompanied by other army officers. He dropped in at the Reynolds Metal Co., Louisville, Ky., where approximately 25 per cent of the employees are deaf-mutes.

By shifting the lunch period, the management gathered all the workers to hear a talk from Knudsen. The foreman told him about the deaf-mutes, adding as a jest, "You'd better talk to them in sign language."

But it was no jest to Knudsen. To the amazement of the foreman and the army officers, he broke into the sign language and carried on a discourse with his hands. The officers gasped, then applauded.

Later, individual workers were brought up to meet Knudsen, and he stood around talking with them in the sign language.

NOTE: By finding war work for these handicapped workers, Reynolds Metal Co. has increased their earnings from $17 a week to $40-plus.

Race Relations

War Shipping Administration has made an inside report on racial good-will aboard the S.S. Booker T. Washington, where trouble was expected because of a mixture of races under colored Capt. Hugh Mulzac. But when the ship completed her first run, with a checkerboard crew and colored officers, the War Shipping Administration reports that it could find nothing but friendly co-operation aboard.

In addition to Capt. Mulzac, the second and third officers, the chief engineer and two assistants whites, and the crew were a mixture of white and colored.

The Booker T. Washington sailed from San Pedro, went through the canal, and landed in New York. Inspectors found the vessel ship-shape, and when they questioned the crew, only four men wanted to quit the ship, as against normal defections of half the crew.

Reason for the good-will, according to the War Shipping Administration, was that, after the ship got to sea, Capt. Mulzac invited all men from the deck department to take instruction in their spare time, to prepare themselves for examinations and promotions. Chief Engineer Irving Smith, also colored, likewise offered engineering instruction.

Morale was so high at the end of the voyage that the men invested extra pay in war bonds, donated a pint of blood each for blood banks, and chipped in to buy Capt. Mulzac a gold watch.

NOTE: Before the ship sailed from San Pedro, Luckenbach Steamship Co. had withdrawn two white officers in favor of colored officers. Whereupon the union (Masters, Mates and Pilots, West Coast No. 90) said, "Fair employment is OK, but why discriminate against white men?"

The Gentlemen's Musical club enjoyed a smoker and lunch after rehearsal last night with W. M. Johns as master of ceremonies. There were speeches, songs and story telling. Four divines present enjoyed the program immensely.

John M. Menefee, Sr., was run against and knocked down by a mule yesterday at his place of business being rendered unconscious for a time, but was able to resume his business today.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bard made a trip to Kansas City yesterday to witness the presentation of "Ben Hur."

Joe K. Tuttle, formerly of Sedalia, elected to the legislature in Oklahoma last November, has been appointed on numerous legislative committees.

A large audience was delightfully entertained last night at the First Christian church by the Sedalia Symphony orchestra. Features were organ solos by Prof. I. N. Farris and an interesting talk by the Rev. Frank C. Fannon.

'I Am a Murderer'

By Morris Markey

Copyright, 1942, NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: This is the story of the "perfect crime"—the murder of Col. Merriwether Hope Merriwether in the library of his Long Island estate—and of the events leading up to it. Cynthia, the Colonel's attractive daughter, has turned down invitations to a dance from Fred West and Henry Pritchard, two attentive friends, in order to entertain Vaughan Dunbar at dinner. Dunbar is a foreign correspondent who appeared unheralded one night with a message from Cynthia's old friend Bill Stewart, and he's been a frequent and welcome visitor in the few ensuing days.

MR. DUNBAR DINES OUT

CHAPTER X

IT was not, somehow, a completely successful dinner party. Vaughan Dunbar was very subdued indeed. He spent the better part of the time at the table with his near-sighted eyes peering through their rimless spectacles at the plate and the glasses before him, and although he was pleasant enough he seemed, as the horse folk themselves might have expressed it, a little off the pace of the conversation. He obviously sensed the effect that this was having upon the others, and he felt constrained to apologize.

"I heard the late news before leaving the city," he said. "It was a bit discouraging. So if I appear to be..."

Cynthia and Anne hastened to reassure him, saying that of course they understood, and Colonel Merriwether asked what the news had been.

"The Balkan situation," said Vaughan Dunbar. "Nothing conclusive yet, but it looks grave. Very grave."

This served, as might be expected, to cool spirits generally. In deference to their guest, it hardly seemed appropriate to pursue the unhappy subject. And, likewise in deference, it seemed rather improper to stir up such trivialities as the new play, Fred West's admiration of a certain Argentine pony, or the latest tack-room tattles from Broken Hill.

With the desert, however, Vaughan Dunbar's mood lightened perceptibly. Making a gesture as if to say, "Come now, it is absurd to worry over events half a world away," he told an amusing anecdote about Hermann Goering.

Slight Damage As Autos Collide

Slight damage was done to a V-8 Ford coupe driven by Archie Decker, Fifteenth street and Ohio avenue, in a collision about 2:20 o'clock Monday afternoon with a car driven by James Cave, at Lamine avenue and Broadway.

Decker was going south on Lamine and had stopped for the highway 50 stop sign, and Cave, driving west on Broadway made a turn north on Lamine striking Decker's car.

An investigation was made by police. Cave had left before the arrival of the officers.

Youths Of 17 To Army Reserves

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Authorization for the enlistment of 17-year-old qualified American citizens in the army reserves—to be called into service within six months after they reach their 18th birthday—was announced Monday by Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles of the first service command.

General Miles declared that the new army policy permitted youths who are physically fit and can present the written consent of their parents, to enlist either in the army enlisted reserves corps, unassigned, or—if they qualify—to enlist as aviation cadets in the air corps enlisted reserve.

Miss Mattie Montgomery, prominent Sedalia teacher, who has devoted most of her classroom time to the teaching of Mathematics repeated a paper entitled "Suppose There Were No Mathematics" at the Sorosis meeting Monday afternoon at the Heard Memorial clubhouse, which she had delivered during the 1931-32 Sorosis season.

The scholarly and interesting paper proved as sound and as fascinating as it did in its first presentation by Miss Montgomery a decade ago.

"It is the purpose of this paper," Miss Montgomery explained, "to support the proposition that Mathematics underlies present-day civilization in much the same far-reaching manner as sunshine underlies all forms of life, and that we unconsciously share the benefits conferred by mathematical achievements of the race just as we unconsciously enjoy the blessing of the sunshine."

In thorough but concise analysis Miss Montgomery established this premise by six examples under the following general headings:

First, Mathematics reveals the heavens to us.

Second, Mathematics reveals the earth to us.

Third, Mathematics is a chief requisite in our Army, Navy, and Air service.

Fourth, Mathematics is fundamental to all the physical sciences.

Fifth, Mathematics is an important tool in many of the biological sciences.

Sixth, Mathematics is an important element in many forms of beauty.

"The importance of Mathematics is gradually seeping through to the public as is evidenced by the many research laboratories now financed by big commercial concerns and by the many appeals of smaller concerns for help in their efficiency programs," Miss Montgomery averred.

She listed the different branches of Mathematics as Arithmetic, Intuitive Geometry, Demonstrative Geometry, Algebra, Trigonometry, Analytical Geometry, Calculus, Conic Sections, Astronomy, and Music.

Showing what would happen to our modern life if Mathematics ceased to function Miss Montgomery concluded her paper with a play entitled "A Near Tragedy" in which "Father Mathematics" and his "sons and daughters" were bound. Lights went out, telephonic communications were suspended, electric sweepers wouldn't work, clocks ceased to run, bank tellers couldn't add figures, scales were out of order, merchants couldn't make change—normal processes were in confusion.

For, as one of the characters proclaims, "when Mathematics was bound, all law and order, all mechanical devices, all measuring and computing vanished."

Miss Montgomery was introduced by Mrs. D. S. Lamm, chairman of the Civics department of Sorosis. Mrs. C. F. Appel presided at the meeting.

Mrs. Paul V. Barnett, former Sedalia, now of Kansas City, was the subject of a personality sketch in "The Musical Bulletin," published by the Kansas City Musical club.

Mrs. Barnett is a lyric soprano and has been heard in recital here many times and more recently as guest artist with the Sedalia Symphony orchestra.

The article follows: "Mrs. Paul V. Barnett whose beautiful voice and attractive personality have been the admiration of the club for the thirteen years she has been in it, is lending her valuable services again as a member of the executive board—this time as corresponding secretary. (of the Kansas City Musical club.)

"Mrs. Barnett should be an example to the club for the persistent pursuit of her art although she is a home-maker and the mother of grown daughters. Gifted with a fine voice which has been carefully trained in the past, she still modestly strives more and more for perfection. She was born and reared in Sedalia, Mo., moving to Kansas City when Mr. Barnett was appointed as Judge of the Kansas City Court of Appeals.

"In New York City in the private music school of Herbert Witherspoon, she studied voice personally for several years with Mr. Witherspoon; also under Graham Reed, now head of the voice department of the Chicago Musical college; interpretation with Francis Moore, well known coach and accompanist; acting and opera with Jacques Coini, later stage director of the Chicago Opera company. Here she has been devoted to the Conservatory, studying with successive voice instructors—Henry Gorrell, Harold Van Duzee, Dr. Frank Laird Walker and, at the present time, with Constance Eberhart. She was a teacher at the Conservatory for four years and later at Henry Gorrell's private school.

"Mrs. Barnett is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon and its present program chairman and also of the Musical Art club. She was a member of the well-known Lombardi Quartet for eight years. Last year she appeared at the Nelson Gallery as soprano in the Conservatory quartet in two performances of Lehmann's "Persian Gardens" and one of Dr. Charles Wakefield Cadman's "Morning of the Year."

"Mr. and Mrs. Barnett have two daughters, Mrs. Clark E. Weaver, Jr., of Kansas City whose husband is in the army; and Miss Marian Diana Barnett, at present a student at the American Academy of Art in New York City."

Mrs. Barnett was a hostess at a musical and luncheon given by Mu Delta chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon for Mr. Cadman who was in Kansas City for an appearance with the Kansas City Philharmonic orchestra in November.

Prominent on the program is the well known aria "Eri tu che macchiavi" ("Is It Thou?") from the opera "The Masked Ball" by Verdi, which Mr. Morris will sing. This is the baritone solo portraying the complete change of heart of the vengeful Reinhardt in the opera, after he has vowed to kill his beautiful wife, Amelia.

Also on the program is a string ensemble composed of 12 outstanding Sedalia artists, and a violin duet by Prof. W. B. Hert and his daughter, Miss Florence Hert. Mrs. Raymond Peterson will accompany.

Mrs. Henry Salveter will be the narrator throughout the program. This is the only evening program on the club's calendar and one which will be of special interest to club members and their guests.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Jackson. Her father, before his death, was a planter in the lower part of South Carolina and for many years was prominent in the political and educational life of the state. He was for many years a member of the house of representatives of the state and a trustee of Coker college. Miss Jackson, now Mrs. Parkhurst is a graduate of Limestone college where she was an outstanding student. For the past six months she has been connected with air traffic control under the Civil Aeronautics Administration at Chandler Field, Atlanta, Ga.

Lieut. Parkhurst received his education at Houstonia, the Central Missouri State Teacher's college, Warrensburg and at the University of Missouri. Before entering the service of his country he was connected with the Farm Security Administration. He is now stationed at the Army Air Base, Greenville, S. C.

The young couple will make their home in Greenville for the present.

In the past months the hospitals all over the United States have found the growing corps of Red Cross Nurse's Aides a tremendous help in meeting their nursing shortage. The Bothwell hospital is no exception. Here in Sedalia we need more Nurse's Aides and need them badly.

Mrs. Gordon Potter, chairman of Nurse's Aides, was superintendent of nurses at the Bothwell during the period of instruction for the four corps now on active duty, and she is most emphatic in her statement that for the duration of the war the Red Cross Nurse's Aide is vital to victory on the home front. Mrs. Potter told us this morning that few people realize the vast amount of hospital work that is accomplished by these Aides, and the ever increasing demand for more of them. It is true that in the recent past dozens of girls and women have taken this training in Sedalia. It is equally true that many of them have since gone into defense work and many have to leave Sedalia and take up residence elsewhere. All of which has depleted our ranks to an alarming extent. So once again we are out for new recruits. For further information please call Mrs. Abe Rosenthal, 1825, and ask her to tell you in greater detail why it is so important to have a 5th Nurse's Aide Corps.

Change Time On Tire Inspection

Tire inspection schedules are changed for both passenger vehicles and commercial vehicles. The former schedule for passenger vehicles was every four months for a "A" book holder, two months for a "B" and "C" book holders. The new schedule for all passenger vehicles calls for every six months for a "A" book holder, four months for a "B" book holder, and three months for a "C" book holder. The final inspection dates for the first inspection on all passenger vehicles are as follows:

Holders of "B" and "C" books, February 28.

Holders of "A" books, March 31.

The deadline for initial inspection for all tires mounted on commercial motor vehicles extends from January 15 to February 28. Thereafter no local board may issue a certificate for tires, tubes, or recapping services for a commercial vehicle unless the vehicle has been duly inspected and approved by an authorized inspector of the Office of Price Administration. The period of inspection for all commercial motor vehicles remains every sixty days or every five thousand miles, which ever occurs first.

U. S. Experts Expect Axis Troops To Loose Gas Attacks If Trapped

The one big "improvement" in gas war technique is the spreading of gas by plane. The picture above, of a surprise gas attack vapor almost on top of "enemy." Troops thus attacked have to be mighty quick with their masks.

By PETER EDSON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

EDGEWOOD ARSENAL, Md., Jan. 19.—This is gas headquarters of the United States Army. Putting it more accurately, it is the pilot plant, testing ground and training school center for the Chemical Warfare Service—but when you say that to the average civilian, he thinks only of gas, and shudders.

But the Chemical Warfare Service, under the command of Major General William M. Porter, can make a case for itself that gas warfare isn't such a terrible business at that.

You can get testimony from distinguished scientists and statisticians from the Veterans' Bureau to support the theory that gas is less horrible than other weapons of modern war. Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard and chairman of the National Defense Research committee, is one who holds to this view. The mere fact that the Germans had learned of the American development of Lewisite, towards the end of the last war, is supposed to have hastened the German decision to ask for an armistice. Veterans Bureau figures show that in the last war, less than 2 per cent of the gas casualties died, and the Veterans' hospitals today have practically no gassed cases. Some consumptives were even cured by gas.

Gas Held No Worse Than Bombs

From the civilian point of view, the mere idea of gas warfare is of course horrendous. The mere threat of a gas attack on defenseless women and children is a psychological weapon of no mean importance. There's nothing about war that can be made pleasant, but to say that gas warfare is any worse than high explosives or incendiary bombing is, according to the point of view of the Chemical Warfare tacticians, unfair to their branch of the service.

The job of the Chemical Warfare Service is to be prepared for gas warfare, and the entire effort here at Edgewood Arsenal is directed that way. President Roosevelt has declared that the United States will use gas only in retaliation, even though this country is not a signatory of the Declaration of Geneva, outlawing the use of gas in warfare. Russia and Great Britain are signatories to that agreement, but Japan and the United States never ratified it so they are free to use gas, according to the so-called laws of war.

Japan has used gas against the Chinese on some 800 occasions, when backed into a corner or when unable to overcome a center of resistance by other means. But so far the Japs have not used gas against American troops.

Biggest puzzle of the war is why Hitler has not yet used gas. The quick and easy answer which General Porter gives to that one is that so far, the Germans haven't had to use it. More than that, it would have been to the disadvantage of the Germans to use gas in their campaigns because it has been a war of movement. Gas is primarily a weapon for static or trench warfare, or it is a weapon to be used to defense or in retreat across an enemy country.

Threat To Advancing Troops

Unless adequate anti-contamination measures are taken, advancing troops that have used gas in their attack must cross the territory they have gassed. That may explain why the Germans have not used gas to date. But it is known that the Germans have large stocks of gas, and it is known where their centers of gas manufacture are located.

It is therefore anticipated that the Nazis are prepared and will not hesitate to use gas, when the time comes. If they were forced into a retreat across Russia, if it were a matter of a last-stand, back-to-the-wall defense, no one believes the Germans would hesitate to use gas. For instance, to maintain their hold in Tunisia, the Germans might be expected to use gas, just as the Italians used gas against the Ethiopians when they couldn't lick the barefooted natives any other way.

Chemical Warfare Service officers say the U. S. Army will be prepared for the German gas attack, when it comes, and furthermore, they will be able to return gas attacks with interest.

Edgewood Arsenal alone is now turning out more gas in a few days than was produced in the whole World War. Edgewood is just a pilot plant. Main production of gas is in arsenals at Huntsville, Ala., Pine Bluff, Ark., and a new plant just being completed near Denver, Colo.

New Gas Protection For AEF

The gasses are in the main the same ones used in the last war, though the concentrations and the methods of producing them have been perfected, as well as the means of using them in warfare. Every American soldier, as he goes up the gangplank for service overseas, gets the very latest type of mask, including two compact spray hoods, a new development which the soldier throws over his head and which covers his entire body like a pup tent, giving him protection during the fraction of a minute required for putting on his mask. The contaminated hood is discarded after a gas attack.

Gas weapons, as demonstrated at Edgewood, have been vastly improved. Mortars will hurl gas shells for miles. A mortar battalion can throw five tons of gas in two minutes, for instance.

The one big "improvement" in gas warfare technique is the spreading of gas by plane. One plane, diving low, can spray an area of 800x1,000 yards with a much thicker blanket of gas than can be laid down by shell or mortar fire. Much faster, too, and that explains the necessity for the spray hoods mentioned above.

Southernmost university under the Stars and Stripes is the University of Puerto Rico, at Rio Piedras.

Infantile paralysis germs are said to enter the human system through the nasal passages.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—(AP)—American bombers heavily pounded the enemy-held Shortland island area of the Solomons Friday night and Saturday, the navy announced today, while ground forces on Guadalcanal accounted for 150 more Japanese troops killed and a number of prisoners as mopping up operations continued.

Drops Bombs On Jap Ship

SOMEWHERE IN New Guinea, Jan. 17.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Allied bombers made a strong raid on Rabaul, New Britain, today as well as attacking installations at Lae, New Guinea, and making lighter attacks on Gasmata, Salamaua and Finschhafen.

A B-17 piloted by Lieut. Glen Lewis of Ogden, Utah, was hit by ack-ack in the Rabaul raid but Lewis said they had the satisfaction that "we made the Japs pay for it."

The lieutenant said his bombardier "dropped a thousand-pounder right on a (Japanese) ship."

Other B-17 pilots participating in the raids today included Lieutenant David Hassemer of St. Louis, Mo.

On January 15, a Liberator returning from raiding Finschhafen and Madang was intercepted by six Zeros. Lieut. Thomas Doyle, Kansas City, Mo., the nose gunner, shot down one of the attacking Japanese fighters while the tail gunner, Corp. Noble Thompson of Maroa, Ill., downed another.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—(AP)—

Renewed Japanese attempts to dislodge American forces from Guadalcanal island in the Solomons, part of a campaign which already has cost the Nipponese dearly in planes, ships and men, appeared in the offing today.

Three air attacks against American positions, reported by the navy over the weekend, indicated the enemy is launching a new bout for Guadalcanal, operating from the Japanese base on Munda, only 180 miles to the northwest.

Some casualties and "minor material damage" were inflicted by Japanese bombers last Friday, the navy reported yesterday in telling of the third enemy raid in two days on Guadalcanal. The previous day the Japs sent two air assaults against American positions, the first multi-plane attacks on Guadalcanal since last November.

Yesterday's communique said the latest American blow at Munda, on New Georgia island, occurred Saturday and that "a number of hits were scored in the target area."

Munda Probably Base

The communique telling of the Japanese raids of Thursday and Friday did not mention Munda as the Japanese taking-off place, but a naval spokesman said the enemy probably used that base inasmuch as it was closer to Guadalcanal than any other enemy air fields in the Solomons.

Two days ago the navy reported United States planes attacked one group of five and another contingent of nine destroyers which presumably were attempting to land supplies and troops for the Japanese-held positions on Guadalcanal. Both groups were damaged, but whether they accomplished their mission was not disclosed.

Last Thursday the navy said American torpedo boats had intercepted a group of Japanese destroyers in waters near Guadalcanal. The navy report did not say whether the enemy ships were successful in reinforcing or supplying Japanese troops on Guadalcanal.

Follow Up Tactics

Japanese tactics in the past have been to follow-up heavy air-raids and destroyer actions with transport forces. These attempts have brought some of the fiercest sea and air fights of the Pacific war.

American sailors and marines landed on Guadalcanal August 8. Japanese efforts to oust them so far have cost the Nipponese 765 planes lost in combat action, 57 ships sunk, six probably sunk and 93 damaged.

American forces have lost a total of 28 ships sunk in the Solomons campaign. An unreported

ALL ROADS LEAD TO TOKYO

Many are the military paths to the heart of Japan, but each presents its difficulties of distance and enemy opposition to overcome. Island by island advance across the southwestern Pacific may be a slow and costly process for beating Japan. Striking from China or down from the Aleutians presents the possibility of killing all Jap resistance by capturing the capital—but there are obstacles to attack here, too. If Admiral Halsey's forecast of victory in '43 is to be fulfilled, the world may yet see United Nations forces taking one or more of these roads to Tokyo.

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Idea man: Ralph Higgins, Oklahoma A. & M. track coach, has figured out how colleges can save on travel by adopting the Oxford-Cambridge scoring system for dual track meets. Only first places are counted at one point each. Higgins' idea is that eight or ten-man squads would be enough for the 15 events if some athletes double up. . . . Harry Walker, who'll fill Terry Moore's place in the Cardinals' outfield, is the father of a baby named Terry. . . . Brig. Gen. John J. Phelan, noted double-talker and boxing commissioner got a taste of his own medicine the other night when he set out to investigate a bout between "Kid Kille" and "Tuffy Roo," neither of them licensed boxers. The general admitted the laugh was on him when he learned Tuffy was a boxing kangaroo, whose appearance was a radio gag arranged by Ralph Edwards.

One reason for the Rangers' sour showing this hockey season is that visiting players admit New York fans and officials are the most important in the league. "Playing in New York is just like playing on the road," Coach Frank Boucher explains. . . . Johnny Evers, still confined to bed with one side paralyzed, dictated a letter to the local baseball writers saying he hadn't missed one of their annual dinners yet and doesn't want to miss this year. . . . There's no big-time basketball in war crowded Washington this winter because Georgetown and George Washington had to move out of Riverside stadium, where they used the play on a board floor over the ice. They could get 3,500 fans into the high school gym they now use—if school authorities would trust an inexperienced crew to set up bleachers.

Pvt. Mickey McConnell, former Brooklyn Dodgers' farm secretary who is handling the Fort Knox, Ky., basketball team now, read the other day that the Elmira Eastern League club was looking for Andy Cohen to offer him a job as manager. . . . The next the army airmen heard of him, he had enlisted in the navy.

THUMBNAILED HISTORY OF U. S. ARMY DIVISIONS

THIRTIETH DIVISION
The Twenty-ninth Division was organized in July, 1917, at Camp McClellan, Alabama. It was composed originally of National Guard units from the District of Columbia and the States of New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia. Later, however, the Delaware troops were withdrawn and organized into pioneer infantry units. The Division was sent overseas in June and July, 1918, and after a few weeks' training moved into a quiet front line sector. It was assigned to the American First Army in September and participated in the Meuse-Argonne offensive, continuing actively until the signing of the Armistice. The Twenty-ninth captured 2,187 prisoners and its casualties totaled 6,159. During its entire service it was commanded by Major General Charles G. Morton. Its insignia is a circle bisected by two half circles, reversed and joined; one half of circle blue, the other half gray.

THIRTIETH DIVISION
The Thirtieth Division, composed of National Guard troops from Tennessee and North and South Carolina, was organized on October, 1917, at Camp Sevier, South Carolina. It moved overseas in May and June, 1918, and in July was assigned to an active sector in Belgium and participated in the Ypres-Lys offensive. In August its artillery units were transferred to the Toul sector and took part in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives. The Division, less artillery, participated in the Somme offensive with the 4th British Army, its outstanding operations being the capture of Bellicourt and the breaking of the Hindenburg line. It captured 3,848 prisoners and suffered 8,954 casualties. Its insignia is the monogram "OH" containing Roman numeral XXX in blue on a maroon field.

THIRTY-FIRST DIVISION
The Thirty-first Division was organized in October, 1917, at Camp Wheeler, Georgia, from National Guard troops of Georgia, Alabama and Florida, and National Army men drafted from Illinois and Michigan. It sailed overseas in September, and in October, 1918, and upon arrival in France was designated as a replacement division. The personnel of most of the units was withdrawn and sent to other organizations, leaving the Thirty-first skeletonized. It returned to the United States in December, 1918. Its insignia is a red circle enclosing the letters "D.D." in red.

THIRTY-SECOND DIVISION
The Thirty-second Division was organized in July, 1917, at Camp MacArthur, Texas, of National Guard troops from Wisconsin and Michigan, and went overseas early in the following year. In May, 1918, it was stationed in the central sector in Alsace, and late in July participated in the Aisne-Marne offensive, occupying the Fismes sector August 7. The Division was active in the Oise-Aisne operations and in the Meuse-Argonne offensive. It was commanded by Major General William G. Haan. Its insignia is an upright arrow piercing a crossbar in red.

THIRTY-THIRD DIVISION
The Thirty-third Division was formed of National Guard troops from Illinois at Camp Logan, Texas, in July, 1917. It arrived in France in May, 1918, and, less artillery, trained with the British near Abbeville and experienced its first combat service in the Aisne-Marne sector early in July. It participated in the Somme offensive and in the terrific fighting at the Troyon sector at the signing of the Armistice. Its artillery units participated in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives. The Division captured 3,987 prisoners and its casualties totaled 7,255. Major General George Bell, Jr., commanded the division throughout the World War. Its insignia is a yellow cross on a black circle.

WE CAN KEEP IT FROM BOGGING DOWN...

You've got the toughest job ahead of you this year in the history of farming. You've got to help feed and clothe the world. And you've got to do it—for the most part—without many new tools.

That means putting your tractors and farm machines in shape to do the job.

But you've got to do it in a hurry. If everyone waits until the last minute, to bring in their tractor for an overhaul job or to buy needed repair parts—then we'll be swamped and the whole program will bog down.

Right now we've got a pretty fair stock of repair parts. And our service department can take care of a few more overhauls jobs.

So—to help yourself in this greatest of all jobs ahead—do place your orders for overhauling and repair parts today. Then we'll all be able to do a better job.
